Job Description

We're currently looking for a talented, passionate individual to work in an Intermediate Architectural Technologist capacity.

What we need:

Our Technologist will work with the design group to plan and prepare construction documents including drawings, consultant coordination and project schedules. They will develop, review and update work plans, develop strategies to achieve work plan targets, and manage client relationships. Team communication is of utmost importance, as is the ability to resolve complex technical issues.

Why you should work with us:

Neoteric proudly offers an environment in which work mingles with fun, and commitment meets professional development to build successful careers. We are a diverse group from different walks of life, which brings varied skill sets to our team-oriented, studio environment. We offer competitive compensation and benefits.

Qualifications & Skill Sets

Your qualifications:

- You've earned a Diploma of Architectural Technology or equivalent and have 5-10 years' progressive design and building detail experience at a Canadian architectural design firm.
- You demonstrate strong proficiency and efficiency in AutoCAD and Revit.
- You're a LEED® AP in good standing with the CaGBC or yearning to become one.
- You're conscientious of project budgets and timelines.
- You show initiative and take a high degree of project ownership and responsibility while maintaining a high level of quality and accuracy.
- You're detail-oriented and methodical.
- You have excellent time management skills
- You exhibit a positive, solution-focused approach to challenges and tasks.
- Your excellent communication and interpersonal skills allow you to collaborate and interact in a diverse, team-oriented environment.

What you bring:

- An eagerness to assist Senior Technologists and Architects/Designers in preparing Design Development drawings and Construction Documents.
- The ability to accurately complete tasks within assigned timelines.
- Working knowledge of bylaws and Building Codes and their interpretation.
- A high level of personal integrity and honesty with outstanding professional ethics & values.
- An ability to handle stressful situations with a high degree of professionalism.
- Experience and knowledge of various building technologies and systems, and architectural detailing.
