Job Description

The City of Surrey is the second largest city by population in British Columbia after Vancouver. With 1,000 new residents per month, Surrey is estimated to surpass Vancouver as the largest city in BC by 2041. It is located only 23 km from Vancouver City Centre and offers more affordable housing options. Residents of Surrey enjoy beautiful urban forests, hiking/biking trails, beaches and world class golf courses. Joining the Thinkspace team means working in a diverse community, while being part of a dynamic and growing firm, and enjoying a work-life balance to match.

Our Surrey office is currently looking for a highly self-motivated and self-directed Architect to assist with the design, detailing and construction of a variety of institutional projects with a strong focus on Health Care. Candidates must present comprehensive and well-rounded qualifications, including:

- an inquisitive and rigorous design sense
- understanding of / experience with major institutional projects, particularly related to health care
- familiarity with current trends in health care planning and design (Lean design, CSA Z317, CSA Z8000)
- in-depth understanding of building systems, including building envelope
- understanding of / experience with sustainable design
- experience / ability to manage a multi-disciplinary team and coordinate consultants
- ability to meet with steering committees and lead user groups
- knowledge of the total design process, from concept through construction, with an understanding of different methods of project delivery
- ability to plan, direct, and execute a set of design, tender and construction drawings and specifications
- contract administration experience including field reviews
- project management experience in an architectural capacity is essential

Qualifications & Skill Sets

The ideal candidate will be a registered architect with 10+ years of post-registration experience, having specific experience in health care. Priority will be given to candidates experienced in all phases of the procurement process and possessing the desire and ambition to take a leadership role in the firm.

Thinkspace offers a stimulating work environment with an emphasis on continuous learning and career advancement. With many projects in the pipeline, we are growing our team and developing our members for long-term career growth opportunities.
